

Purpose Quest – July 2021

Purpose isn't something out there you have to find, it's already in you, it simply needs awakening.

As a young adult in 2021 you live in what can feel like unprecedented and uncertain times, whilst on another level it can feel like nothing much has really changed. Our view is that our world is at a tipping point, we are immersed in a global rite of passage and finding your path has never been more important – for yourself and for humanity.

Many, many people feel unclear about their and our collective way forward. At personal, social, societal and global levels, living disconnected from purpose is commonplace today and contributes to the experience of feeling lost, disconnected and unclear.

Yet a sense of purpose creates clarity, direction, confidence, fulfilment. It has the power to act as an internal compass guiding our life choices, our sense of how to walk in the world and the difference we want to make.

Connecting to purpose is at the source of being and feeling truly alive.

Inspired by ancient wisdom traditions and modern creative practices our purpose quest offers the opportunity and space to be curious, to not know, to wonder for a while and to lean-in, to what is at the core of being you – your purpose right now.

Purpose isn't something out there you have to find, it's already in you, it simply needs recognising and awakening.

Our three-day purpose quest is designed to support and challenge you, it's an individual experience shared with others, its lineage is thousands of years old and yet it makes sense in today's world. The experience of sitting with others in a questing circle, round a fire, in nature has an unrivalled capacity to ignite a transformation in you.

We extend a warm invitation to join us, approach the edge of your not-knowing and begin to awaken the sense of purpose within you.

Nick & Andy

Purpose Quest Guides:

Nick Clitheroe – Founder Roundhouse Coaching

In his 20's Nick grappled with not knowing what he wanted to do, failing relationships and mounting debts, he stole from an employer, dabbled with addiction and quit numerous jobs!

In the last 15 years Nick has been a coach, catalyst and consultant in corporate, social enterprise and educational sectors. As he started to awake his own sense of purpose he began working with young adults in a variety of ways, his capacity to help them hold important questions and find their own inner wisdom has been transformational for many.

In 2010 he co-founded and ran a social enterprise for young creatives in Bristol and most recently during lockdown he launched an international programme for young adults helping them meet the challenges of life more creatively.

In 2019 following the completion of his marriage, a cancer diagnosis and his own purpose quest Nick became clearer than ever that his reason for being here and his journey to recovery is to help others cultivate their inner wisdom and awaken a sense purpose.

Andy Kitt – Director nowhere

Andy is a Group Director and creative-catalyst in nowhere a global consultancy which specialises in shaping cultures which are inherently purposeful, stimulating and creative.

He joined nowhere in 2005, after 15 years in a corporate career working as the Head of Learning and Development for Boots the Chemists and Head of Organisational Development for Barclays Private Banking.

After completing his own purpose quest in 2004 Andy left corporate life in order to dedicate his work to developing a practice that encourages leaders to create workplaces that move beyond 'pushing harder', and instead breakthrough into newer, more creative ways of living and working.

Andy has over 15 years of experience holding large-scale transformation programs across complex, global businesses. He's married to Daine, lives in Nottingham, has 5 grown-up children and 4 grandchildren (its complicated!!).

Logistics

Where: Chesterblade Hills, Somerset, BA4 4QX

When: 3pm Monday 26th to 6pm Wednesday 28th July 2021

Who: 12 places

Cost: £95 to cover venue, camping and basic food supplies

What you will need to bring:

Tent and camping equipment for your stay
Clothing to cover all weather conditions
Journal and something to write with

We will provide:

Tea/coffee and water to drink

Simple breakfast – fruit, oats, milk (oat and UHT dairy)

Light lunch – veg soup, bread/crackers

Evening Meal – hot vegetarian stew/curry/chilli

Please feel free to bring your own provisions to supplement the above and if you have any specific dietary requirements not covered by what we will be providing please let us know.

Contact:

To explore joining us please contact nick@roundhousecoaching.org or call/message him on 07974247382.